RREDA is an independent authority, created by the City of Regina, focused on growing the economy in the Regina Region.

Introducing the Regina Regional Opportunities Commission

The Regina Regional Economic Development Authority and Tourism Regina merged in late April, creating a new economic and tourism development organization called the Regina Regional Opportunities Commission (RROC). Both organizations will continue doing business as usual while the transition takes place.

For more information, read the merger newsletter. Your newsletter subscription will continue, although future messages will be delivered through RROC.

2009 Progress2Capital Business Planning Competition

The fourth annual Progress2Capital Business Planning Competition is well underway. Eight teams have made it to the final round, where they will compete to impress the judges with limo pitches and formal presentations.

Success at the National Job Fair

RREDA and Tourism Regina were part of a contingent of Saskatchewan organizations that participated in the 2009 Spring National Job Fair and Training Expo in Toronto March 31 to April 1. A record-breaking 14,000 job seekers attended the job fair, many of whom expressed a great deal of interest in the Regina region.

RREDA attended the event to help Regina region employers attract employees and to promote the Regina region as a great place to live, work, visit and do business.

More information about the job fair is available in this promotional Leader-Post article.
